The library in the Straubing-Ost district...

... is a branch of the city library in the Salzstadel and offers the residents of the eastern city area a place to browse, read, linger, and learn. The borrowing conditions correspond to those of the city library in the Salzstadel.

Open Library

The Straubing-Ost branch library is designed as an Open Library, which means you can use the library at certain times and borrow media when no staff are present. To open the main entrance, you only need your valid library card.

Since no staff are present during Open Library times, fees cannot be paid, registration interviews cannot be conducted, and no information can be provided. Loans are possible via the self-checkout machine, and returns are made via the media return box in front of the main entrance.

The Open Library can be used by anyone who meets the following requirements:

- Adults aged 18 and over with a valid library card.
- The library account must not be blocked, e.g., due to a reminder.

Video monitoring

During Open Library hours, the video surveillance system in the branch library is activated. An announcement informs about the end of staffed hours so that if you do not wish to be recorded, you can leave the library in time. The recordings are only reviewed in case of valid incidents, such as serious damage or significant contamination.
